

It's your turn!

Aim for success!

Internship in OEM European Marketing Technologies

We make people's lives easier, better, and more beautiful with strong brands and innovative technologies. With subsidiaries in 125 countries, Henkel is the world's market leader in adhesives and surface technologies. In detergents/cleaners and cosmetics/toiletries for body care products, Henkel has a leading position in Europe. If you seek success through accomplishments and have a combination of know-how, creativity, and imagination, you'll find your professional home here with us.

And now ... it's your turn!

Who we are?

The Adhesives Technologies division is Henkel's largest business unit & is a world market leader focussing on industrial and consumer markets for adhesives, sealants and surface treatment. Like our customers, our business is truly global with an exciting mix of cultures, customers and markets. Our division represents Loctite, the most valuable and internationally recognized brand at Henkel.

OUR OFFER:

- An exceptional career opportunity for outstanding qualified applicants
- You will be working in a young, international team that supports top management in the headquarters as well as in the European countries in market development projects. You will have the chance to work in close contact with customers and with Henkel overseas departments.

YOUR TASKS:

- European market analyses, including the definition and quantification of our markets and our strategic positioning within these markets
- Organizing of and participation at customer visits and exhibitions
- Creation of marketing communication materials for target applications and markets (sales presentations, brochure content, intranet/internet etc..)

YOUR QUALIFICATIONS:

- Business or technical studies with a clear focus on marketing
- Fluent in English and German
- Excellent knowledge of Power Point and Excel
- Strong communicative and analytical skills
- High level of independency

YOU ARE: self motivated, team-oriented, open-minded and available for at least 3 months from NOW on

If you meet the qualifications above, please send your application directly to:

andrea.ferrari@henkel.com

Tel. +49-(0)211-797-8488

